

WELCOME TO TURNKEY CFO

How Turnkey works

You now have a finance team behind your business. This short guide explains what happens each month, who does what, how to reach us, and the few things we will need from you so your books are always current, clean, and easy to read.

Running a business is hard enough without wondering whether the numbers are right. Our job is to take the books off your plate entirely and hand them back to you every month in plain language, on a schedule you can count on. You stay the decision maker. We are the team that keeps the financial engine running underneath you.

Everything below is the standard Turnkey experience. It is the same every month, for every client, so you always know what to expect and when.

Always current

Your books are closed and delivered inside the first ten business days of every month.

Always clear

Reports come in language you can read, not accounting jargon, with the highlights called out.

Always a team

A U.S. led finance team supported by our delivery function, not one person you have to chase.

THE MONTHLY RHYTHM

Your month, in business days

We measure the close in business days, written as BD. BD1 is the first business day of the month. Here is what happens at each checkpoint after your prior month ends.

BD1

DAY 1

We open the month

TURNKEY TEAM

Bank and card feeds are pulled in, statements are gathered, and the prior month is queued for close. Nothing is needed from you yet.

BD3

DAY 3

We tell you what we need

TURNKEY TEAM, THEN YOU

You receive one short "open items" list: any statements, receipts, memos for a few transactions, or approvals we need to finish cleanly. Getting these back quickly is the single biggest thing that keeps your close on time.

BD6

DAY 6

We review for quality

TURNKEY TEAM

Your books get a full quality review before anything is delivered. This is where we catch anything that looks off and make sure the story the numbers tell is accurate.

BD10

DAY 10

You receive your financials

TURNKEY TEAM TO YOU

Your month is closed and delivered: profit and loss, balance sheet, and a short note on what changed, what to look at, and any items still open. This lands by the tenth business day, every month.

Business days skip weekends and holidays, so BD10 is usually around the middle of the calendar month. If your business has a special reporting need, we will tell you where your dates differ from this standard.

Who does what

Turnkey is a U.S. led finance team supported by our delivery function. You are not hiring one person. You are hiring a system with clear roles, so nothing depends on any single desk being free.

Function	What they own	You will hear from them about
Client Lead	Your relationship, your reporting, and the quality of what you receive	Your monthly review, questions about the numbers, and anything strategic
Bookkeeping & delivery	Day to day categorization, reconciliations, and preparing the close	Open items, documents, and clarifying a transaction
Client operations	Scheduling, invoicing on our side, and keeping things moving	Meeting times, sending your monthly package, and follow ups

The one thing to remember

You do not need to know who is doing what behind the scenes. You have one place to send everything, and the right person picks it up. That contact is below.

Who to contact, and how fast we answer

Your one point of contact

For anything at all, documents, questions, a change in your business, reach us at `{{CONTACT_EMAIL}}`. Send it there and the right member of your team picks it up. You never have to figure out who to route it to.

[Turnkey internal, set before sending] Replace {{CONTACT_EMAIL}} with the shared client contact address. The finance@ mailbox is a pending decision. Until it is provisioned, use the deal owner's Turnkey address. Do not send this packet with the placeholder still in it.

Response time standards

We hold ourselves to clear turnaround windows so you are never left waiting or wondering.

What you send	When you hear back
A general question or request	Within one business day
A question tied to your monthly close	Same or next business day during the close window
Something time sensitive (flag it as urgent)	We prioritize it the same business day where possible

How questions get answered

- ✓ Send it to your one contact address. That is the whole process.
- ✓ If it needs a real conversation, we will set up a short call rather than trade long emails.
- ✓ Questions about your numbers are welcome any time, not only at your monthly review. That is what we are here for.
- ✓ For tax filing or legal questions, we will point you to your CPA or attorney. We keep your books accurate and ready so those conversations are easy.

YOUR PART

What we need from you each month

A clean close is a team effort. Your part is small and predictable. The faster these come back, the sooner your financials are in your hands.

Item	Why we need it	By when
Statements we cannot pull automatically	To reconcile every account to the source	By BD3 of the new month
Receipts or memos for a few flagged transactions	To categorize them correctly instead of guessing	By BD3, on the open items list
Approvals still waiting on you	To finish anything that needs your sign off	By BD3
A heads up on anything unusual	New account, big purchase, new entity, a change in how you operate	As soon as it happens

We make this easy

You will get one short, specific open items list around BD3, not a stream of one off requests all month. Once our automated reminders are switched on for your account, routine nudges for receipts and approvals will come to the right person on your team, so it never piles onto you.

Welcome aboard

From here, the rhythm takes over. Every month you can expect the same steady cadence, the same clear reports, and a team that already knows your business. If anything is ever unclear, reach out. We would rather answer a question than have you guess.
